BY OSCAR HEWITT.
In the face of this Tribune's canvass work to date, William E. Dever, Democratic candidate, has an advantage of 4,200 votes over Arthur C. Lueder, Republican entry.

A correct interpretation of the poll for Dever a larger advantage. In summary printed at the top of the page are all the votes canvassed, minus those polled before the campaign really started, and votes of relatives of the same spots. Also in summarization are polls of classes of citizens by nationality and occupation which were taken upon different basis. Without consideration of these other factors a clear view of the actual race cannot be obtained.

Dever Gains Ground.

It had two days Dever has been ground. A canvass was made of 13th of thirteen Archer Brothers' stores, which had been previously twenty days ago. In the first case, Dever was 125.

Last night his plurality was but the difference between the two did not represent the gain of Dever.

Dever's gain in the number of persons who balledot on the two sessions.

The votes received by each candidate in each theater at each of the two polls are shown in the following tabulation, in black face figures for last night's canvass.

Comparison of Totals.

The total ballots in the first canvass are approximately 75.4 per cent of the total in last night's poll. Making due allowance for that difference, the Dever poll was really 425 votes instead of 30, the difference in his plurality last night of 728 and his plurality March 3 of 112.

Putting last night's canvass on the basis of that taken March 3, the comparison figures in the two polls are as follows:

Dever, Pre. Dever, Lueder, Conrad, Total.

1-Baldwin Sq.	1,551	1,801	146	3,498

Dever's lead.

In the recanvass of the Lubliner and Trinx theaters, published yesterday, Dever showed a net gain of 774 votes in a poll involving 3,644. His total today of 425 gives a total for the two days of 1,199 votes.

Indicates Dever Advantage.

That figure represents the advantage of Dever in two theaters plus about seven-eighths of one per cent of the total number of votes which are expected to be cast on April 1.

The number of votes in the poll is small, therefore, to permit a reliable calculation of the probable result of the election. But the number is sufficient to be indicative.

The votes for the two days were obtained in eight theaters on the south, the same number on the west, and the same number on the north side. These stations are located in six wards on the west side, seven on the west side, and six on the south side. A map showing the location would indicate widespread areas the spots from the views of the voters were

TRIBUNE A. A. BOUTS PROVE HUGE SUCCESS

The most successful amateur boxing tournament ever held in this or any other city came to a successful conclusion last night at the Ashland Boulevard Auditorium. More than 4,000 fans filled the hall and the crowd was so great that the hall had to be closed.

Dever's bout with the semi-final and final of the Tribune Athletic association was the most successful of the night.

A crowd estimated at between 4,000 and 5,000 were turned away when the announcement was made that the hall was sold out.

New York, March 28.—[general roundup of witness investigation of the murder of Keenan King is scheduled now. Re-examination of witness will follow a conference of Chief Assistant District Attorney Edmund Pecora and Inspector Coughlin and his aid, C. Carey.

The decision to conduct a searching examination is due to information which was obtained when he quizzed Draper D. Daugherty, son of General D. M. Daugherty, United States marshal. Mr. Daugherty gave up the name of the man he suspected to be blackmail him with the main model.

During the day the district attorney admitted a number of letters written by Mr. Daugherty had been found in the model's box. The existence of the letters had been a matter of interest to the police, but they had been still in the strong box. Mr. Daugherty quoted as saying he had removed them.

"These letters," said he, "have not been inspected or removed by them. I have given them to Capt. Carey that the police may be permitted to retain the letters. They can get them with the help of Mr. Keenan with letters of administrative charge of them."

The prosecutor said the view with Daugherty that Daugherty had never given any presents, nor has he any letters. Mr. Pecora Daugherty had explained he had a party in his home, and made out the check in a small bill, while the guests were the Former Sheriff Green is now state superintendent of prisons.

Hear of Wine Parties.

One of the phases of the inquiry to be taken up next week probably will be the report that while the small trial was in progress six of the jurors paid several visits at night to Krueger's roadhouse on the outskirts of Waukegan. Women were present at the parties, at which wine was served, it is said.

Many persons, some of them public officials, who worked in Gov. Small's behalf, before and during the trial, have appeared in Waukegan recently. Some appear to have business from time to time in the courtroom and about the county seat. The chief of police of Kenosha, the governor's home town, was one of the visitors to Waukegan today.

SON THEY 'BURIED' TURNS UP ALIVE IN EAST CHICAGO

New York, March 28.—[Special]—The body of a young man identified by his mother as her son, Edward F. Hart, a war veteran, was buried with military honors at Waukegan on Feb. 16. The body was that of a man killed in a railroad accident at Pittsburgh on Feb. 8, and on it was found an identification card bearing Foy's name.

Mc. and Mrs. Thomas Foy, the veterans' parents, were seated at the head of the funeral table today when a postman delivered a letter. Mrs. Foy was seated when she saw the handwriting.

"That looks like Tommy's handwriting," she said to her husband.

Another member of the family tore open the envelope and found inside the address of a woman on Tommey.

The young man wrote under date of East Chicago, Ind., telling his mother he was "getting along fine" and had a good job. He gave no street address. Mrs. Foy at once answered the letter, begging her son to return to the home he had left about a year ago.

IS HUBBY'S LOVE GROWING COLD? TREAT HIM ROUGH

"Break up the furniture when your husband's love weakens and treat him rough." That is the advice of Mrs. Grace Zalestorius, 3116 West 43d street, who appeared before Judge Peter Schwab yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct.

"Use 'cave-man' tactics," continued Mrs. Zalestorius. "Be independent. Make him jealous of you. Let him do the housework. Put salt in his coffee and show him that you are not afraid of him."

Judge Schwab listened with interest and put Mrs. Zalestorius on probation for three months.

German Industrial Chiefs Block $50,000,000 Loan

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
Copyright, 1923. By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, March 28.—[Tribune Radio.]—The German gold loan has failed to reach the $50,000,000 total asked by the government.

In addition, the Tribune learns from reliable sources that the sum of $35,000,000 guaranteed by banks not more than $15,000,000 was subscribed. The balance was asked by the government, and it probably will be supplied by the reichsbank.

Magnates Mitchell Notes.

During the day the chief assistant prosecutor admitted that a packet of letters written by Mr. Mitchell had been found in the model's safe deposit box. The existence of the letters hitherto has been a matter of speculation.

Mr. Peora and the police tonight said that as far as they knew the letters were not in the wrong box, although Miss Keenan was quoted as saying she had removed them.

"These letters," said Mr. Peora, "have not been inspected by the police or removed by them. I have suggested a Capt. Carter that the police be permitted to return the letters if they believe they can do them without difficulty."

This consideration probably was primarily responsible for the failure of the loan. The lack of confidence in the outcome of the Ruhr fight must be a factor.

The prosecutor said that his interview with Daugherty had disclosed the fact that Daugherty had given the man and presents, nor had it written any letters.

Mr. Peora said that Daugherty had explained that on one occasion he had been one of many at a party in his home, and that he had made out the check in payment of a small bill that had been presented while the guests were there.

Tells of Call.

"I just had a short talk with Maj. Daugherty," said Mr. Peora. "He and me a man telephoned him in the evening of March 23. Maj. Daugherty gave me the name of this man. He said that Dorothy King had introduced him to the telephone caller some time ago. The dialogue was exceedingly short, as I recall it was as follows:

"Is this Mr. Daugherty?"

"Yes. Well, this is — How about that job you promised to get for me in the department of justice?"

"Well, what about it?" responded Daugherty, and the man then said: "Well, what about it?"

"Well, you know, you wouldn't want my name to come out in connection with Dorothy King, would you? Well, if you don't get me that job it will come out."

Gave Her Brother Job.

Mr. Daugherty told me that he had invited the threat maker to come down and tell that to him personally. That was the end of the talk over the telephone."

In the course of the day it was ascertained that Francis Keenan, a brother of the murdered model, had worked for Maj. Daugherty from October, 1922, until some time in January. He had been employed in the Daugherty office at 110 Broadway, adjoining the office of Col. Thomas B. Peoria. Young Keenan resigned his job there early this year.

BALDWIN HINTS BRITISH STEP TO END RUHR CRISIS

Replies to Massed Attack in Commons.

BY JOHN STEELE.

Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1923. By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 28.—[Tribune Radio.]—The possibility of early British intervention in the Ruhr was foreshadowed this afternoon by Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, in winding up the debate in the house of commons which took the form of a massed attack by the government's友朋派 against him by all factions in the opposition.

Mr. Baldwin spoke for Prime Minister Bonar Law, who was absent through illness.

"The government could have done nothing more than it has done," Mr. Baldwin said. "The present intervention by a third party in any dispute obviously leads to disaster, but I believe the moment may come when our services to our allies and to Germany may be of immense value."

"The moment we believe that an intervention-suspension or anything else in the way of a step towards settlement may prove successful we will act."

Grigg in Attack.

The debate opened with a remarkable maiden speech by Sir Edward Grigg, formerly former Prime Minister Lloyd George's secretary and now a member of parliament for Oldham. Mr. Lloyd George sat beside Sir Edward, encouraging and applauding him at every point, but this encouragement was little needed, for Sir Edward proved a master in parliamentary arts and made the greatest impression on the house of any new member for years.

He spoke of the great dislocation to British trade resulting from the French occupation of the Ruhr, mentioning one firm in his constituency which was doing a trade of $250,000 ($1,375,000) and not only found this cut off, but was not able to recover goods stopped by the French to sell elsewhere.

Sum for Reparations.

"The last few months have seen a change in the policy which used to aim at enforcement of the treaty of Versailles," Sir Edward said, "but it has now gone far beyond the Versailles pact. The first aim of the Versailles treaty was to disarm Germany. That has been done to obtain reparations. But it is now clear that the amount should be fixed by one ally, but by the reparations commission."

"It is a new situation that we have to deal with. The government does not tell us how we are going to deal with it."

The Rhine and the Saar, practically, economically and in every way, are German. Their alienation from Germany means an explosion in the years to come. The French policy is contrary to the aims of the treaty of Versailles, and it means to mean another, that is, to ask the government to consult the dominions immediately and to frame a British policy. A crisis may come in a few weeks, and we must be ready."

Ex-War Secretary Speaks.

Sir Edward was followed by Sir Llewellyn Wood-Addison, Ex-War secretary for war in the Lloyd George cabinet, who appealed for the widest publicity, stating that the feeling between Great Britain and the allies was hardening into antagonism and that he sees war ripening fast. He demanded that the government should give a full account of the allied conference of last August, December and January.

Former Prime Minister Asquith drew the attention of the house to a statement by German Foreign Minister Bulow, published in a Reichstag yesterday, which was not noticed in the press here offering to submit to a consideration of business men the question

MOSCOW ACTS ON ONE OF U.S. TERMS ON RECOGNITION

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

MOSCOW, March 28.—[Tribune Radio.]—For the first time in the five years of muddled Russo-American relations one of the chief American conditions for recognition of the soviet regime is being seriously considered in Moscow.

The Pravda, the official organ of the government, says that Russia is prepared to make partial payments on its war debt to America in order to purchase the possibility of peaceful trade relations.

Only Considered Pre-War Debts.

However, the Russian policy, as outlined by Foreign Minister Georges Chicherin at the Genoa conference last year, was recognition of the present of Hugo Stinnes, Germany's industrial and financial czar, to Rome was to see Elbert H. LOSES HUSBAND GATES HEIRESS WEDS PLAYMATE OF CHILDHOOD

Rejected Princess; She Can
"Cook, Wash Dishes."

Pasadena, Cal., March 28.—[Special]—Miss Della Angell, heiress to the $40,000,000 fortune of John W. Gates, was married at noon today to Lester Norris, Chicago cartoonist, and son of an undertaker at Miss Angell's childhood home, St. Charles, Ill.

The Rev. Robert E. Freeman of the Pasadena Presbyterian church was the officiating clergyman. There was no one else except the immediate family present.

The young heiress was attended by her small sister, Roberta Angell, as flower girl. There was no best man.

The bride was a slender, young woman. She came forward on the arm of her father, Dr. Robert Frank Angell, whose opposition to the wedding was overcome only recently. The pair will honeymoon by motor—where is a secret.

Courted by Princes and Dukes.

The ceremony was in the winter home at Altadena, a secluded and still further secluded for the occasion, the telephone remaining unanswered and the doorbell suffering suspended animation.

Mrs. Norris, although only 20, had been sought in marriage by princes, dukes, oil magnates, brokers, and just plain every day young men like Lester Norris. Her engagement to C. Wilson Rutherford, Los Angeles, was reported in 1921. Previously rumored had he been to a youth of Lake Forest, Ill. For a time her family was kept busy denying reports of her engagement—including the family chauffeur, Mrs. S. Reid.

Rutherford had been discharged from the Angell ménage, brought suit against Dr. Angell, asserting Della's late father had caused him, but the suit came to nothing.

Heirs of Noted Plumber.

The girl was the favorite niece, namesake, and heiress of the late Mrs. John W. Gates, widow of the famous "Bet a Million" New York and Chicago plumber, banker, and developer of the stock exchange, was noted for his race track interests, and was one of the owners of Wyeth, an American Derby winner. He left his widow upwards of $25,000,000. Virtually all of it, with the accretions of good management, go to Mrs. Lester Norris.

The young married pair went to school together and were childhood sweethearts long before Della became an heiress. Announcing her betrothal to Norris last autumn, Miss Angell confessed her interest in him began when he beat her in a swimming race in the sixth grade and she in the fifth.

The engagement of the young couple was made known at the St. Charles home of the heiress' aunt, Mrs. E. J. Baker. There was no liveried butler, no stringed quartet. The party was small, as was the wedding.

Q.—If you could bring the proletarian revolution to Michigan, would you do it? A.—That is a nonsensical question—no question of distant, distant importance.

The advance of the soviet form of organization as the organ of the workers' struggle for power and of the proletarian state includes the acceptance of extra parliamentary means of achieving power. It means the acceptance of the principle that the existing capitalist government will be overthrown through the mass power of the workers. And this includes the use of armed forces."

FAIRBANK IS OUT FOR DEVER; CITES M. V. L. PRAISES

Judge Stirs Enthusiasm
at 4 Big Rallies.

Edgar Fairbank, former secretary of the Municipal Voters' League, yesterday was added to the list of Republican and Progressive supporters of Judge William E. Dever, Democratic candidate for mayor. Mr. Fairbank made the following statement:

"Although I am not a Democrat, and a spite of the wholly unauthorized use of my name by the Lumber Committee in some of its campaign literature, I am, and have been, first last, and all the time, for William E. Dever, mayor."

"For the last three years Mr. Dever served in the city council. I was secretary of the Municipal Voters' League and it was my business to be at the head of the record of the aldermen, and I am, and have been, first last, and all the time, for William E. Dever, mayor."

Quoted M. V. L. Records.

"In 1919 when Dever was elected alderman for the fifth time, the Municipal Voters' League said: 'Finishing ninth term; man of vigor and principle possessing qualities of leadership especially useful in emergencies; makes record of honest voting; an alderman of whom the ward could be proud.' That was the record of an unopposed nonpartisan body, made thirteen years ago when all the facts were not in mind."

"His rugged honesty has been tested and proved in the hot fire of political strife which has destroyed so many unopposed commissioners, aldermen, and trustees. He is the sort of man whom I would trust with the job of making a complete cleanup in the city hall."

Rallies are Enthusiastic.

Faithfulness for Judge Dever ran high last night at four packed meetings where he appeared. Attorney George J. Devine said they were "no longer to be called meetings, but rather processions to the next mayor."

Workers at all the "receptions" expressed certainty of Judge Dever's election, the candidate himself said he had no doubt.

Raymond Robins, former progressive leader in Illinois, and Attorney George Jennings were the spell-binders.

DRUGGIST TRAPS NURSE WHO GOT DOPE BY FORGERY

The clock indicates the number of persons killed since Jan. 1 by auto speeders, by shootings, and by moonshine.

ers of the night. Robins told of the fight of the good citizens of the old 17th ward to get rid of the Democratic and Republican "crooks" who were in control.

"He Was Credit to Ward and City."

"We selected young Dever as the good-government candidate, and, though counted out the first time, he was elected the next five times out of the city and because of my knowledge of his service, I am giving him my hearty support."

Jennings promised taxpayers their money's worth under Mayor Dever.

"I cost the taxpayer $2,000,000 in the last year of Mayor Harrison's administration. The last year of Mayor Thompson's administration cost the citizens $128,000,000 in taxes. Four times as much! Did you get that much service? You will get good government at the lowest price the next four years by voting for Dever."

DRIVER CRASHES INTO OTHER CAR TO SAVE A LIFE

When the nurse appeared in the drug store at the Sheridan road address yesterday, she presented a prescription ostensibly signed by Dr. T. A. Daly, 3735 South Halsted street, and which she said she was giving morphine for Mrs. Frank A. Vanersstrom, a patient at 7117 Sheridan road.

Mrs. Vanersstrom is a patron of the drug store and Eck knew that her physician was not Dr. Daly. He became suspicious and called the police.

It was revealed that Mrs. Wesper had accepted employment at the Vanersstrom home yesterday morning.

In League with Peddlers.

It is said that although the nurse consumes large quantities of morphine, purchases indicate that she probably is in league with peddlers.

Mrs. Wesper admitted that she has been an addict for about five years.

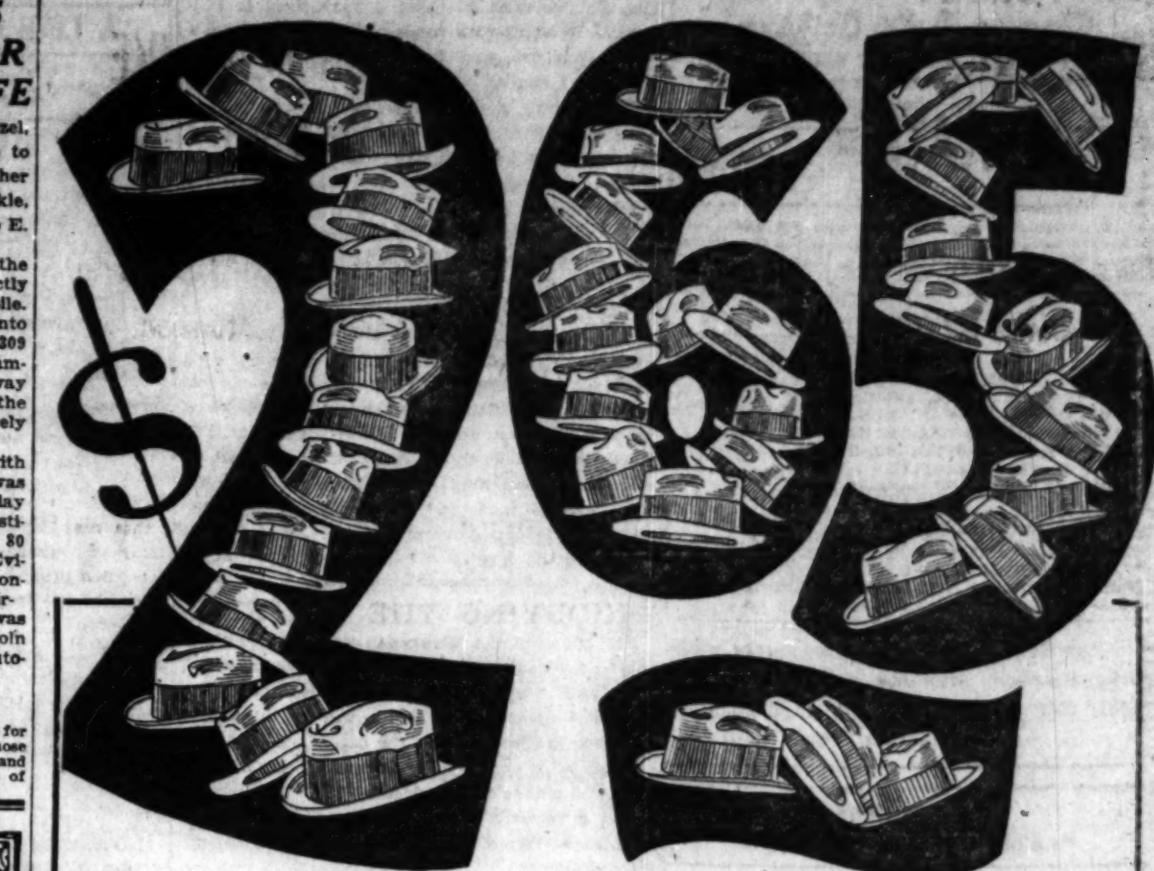

She stated she had first used it to relieve pain caused by injuries received in a fire.

to Be Built on Broadway

New York, March 28.—[Special]—Broadway is to have another giant theater and office building. The new structure is to reach twenty stories and cost $9,500,000. It will be erected for supplies she would include a forged prescription for morphine or cocaine, using the names of a bona fide physician.

Two Nurses Sought Here.

Chicago police have been asked to look for two nurses, Miss Selma Mannenes, whose address is 1212 W. 11th street, and Miss Nellie Means, heirress to the estate of her uncle, J. J. Glavin, of Cardwell, Mo.

Gov. Smith of New York in his controversy with United States Senator Fess properly asserts the right of the New York legislature to memorialize congress for modification of the Volstead act. The autonomy of prohibition would deny even the right of petition. It is a consistent disregard of the fundamentals of law and liberty.

Gov. Smith suggests that congress could return to the states some degree of the control which they formerly had in the regulation of the lives of their citizens. It could modify the enforcement act to permit beverages with an alcoholic content of 2.75 per cent and allow such states as wanted to legalize the use of a light beer to do so.

This is opposed as a nullification of the constitution by the very people who profit from the nullification of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments. They agree or insist that the states shall do as they please regarding the Negro vote, but that they may have no particle of independence, even within the white, with regard to prohibition.

The fourteenth and fifteenth amendments worked in the south for a while with the United States army to make them work, but they do not work now.

ANOTHER MISSIONARY LANDS.

The landing of another distinguished Briton, Lord Robert Cecil, is heralded from New York. Lord Robert comes openly with a mission, which is more than can be said of a good many other visitors. His purpose is to advertise the merits of the League of Nations, which have failed to impress a considerable majority of the American people, and to explain to us as patiently as possible why we ought to get into it. Lord Robert is a gentleman and a statesman. We predict that he will treat our susceptibilities tactfully and he will be received with so much enthusiasm wherever he goes that he should feel, when he departs, a heart-warming sense of accomplishment.

May we intimate to his lordship that this impression will not in some measure deceptive? His contacts will be very largely with snobs by whom any lord would be dearly loved and with colonial-minded gentilefolk of Boston, New York, and Philadelphia, who, we are confident, regret the revolution, and with internationalists, mostly sentimental ladies and "idealistic" professors. These do not much sway public opinion or shape our political action. They are not worth Lord Robert's powerful artillery, yet they will surround him and give him an impression of enthusiastic assent, which he may well do to discount.

However, Lord Robert's words will reach beyond this circle, by way of the press, and they will be very welcome to those Democratic politicians who think the League may still be made a winning issue at the next election. Lord Robert, as our Tannenbaum's London correspondent, Mr. Steele, believes is "by far the biggest man in British politics today, as far as intellect is concerned," and Mr. Cox of Ohio must view his approach much as a boy with a pea shooter would view the appearance of a baton.

However, Americans, who are not ready to see the nation committed to European politics under the guise of a league of nations, would do well to place Lord Robert's discussion of the league plan against a background of facts and keep it clearly in mind that, whatever the theoretical framework of legal form of the League may be, the forces which control its action are the forces at work in Europe today.

THE DELUSION OF FEDERAL AID.

Two bills are pending before the Illinois legislature which are designed to record this state's acceptance of the Sheppard-Towner bill, with its federal aid provisions for care of needy mothers and infants. They illustrate once more the growing tendency in this country to multiply laws, centralize power, and evade direct responsibility in an unintelligent effort to make life easy and fool proof.

The care of needy mothers and infants is a worthy cause. But it is in no way a function of our federal government. Those who would make it so by registering Illinois' approval of the bill in question are working toward the further centralization of government in this country, the breaking down of safeguards which state governments must maintain for the citizens of their comparatively restricted and specialized areas, and the encouragement of extravagance in government.

Unless the taxpayers of this state are so altruistic that they are willing to give twice as much as they receive for the care of needy mothers and infants, they will stop this tendency at once. We cannot forget that federal aid must come from our own pockets. The taxpayers of the country provide the federal revenue. The taxpayers of Illinois provide approximately 4.46 per cent of that revenue. Approval of the Sheppard-Towner bill, or any other bill providing for "federal aid," means only that we must be taxed enough more to provide the treasury with funds of return to us for a deficit purpose, and to give, in part, to other states for a similar purpose.

Thus Illinois would receive as "benefits" from the Sheppard-Towner act $58,730 the first year and $62,720 the subsequent years, while her taxpayers would pay into the federal fund for this distribution to the other states $125,365 the first year and $194,963 in subsequent years, in addition to which she would be adding $48,720 each year to state taxes. There is definite expense, and incentive for waste and extravagance in that.

It is wise for government to care for needy mothers and children, it should be done by state and local, not by federal government. We can get nothing in this matter from the latter which we do not first give to it, and only a fraction of that. The tendency to delude ourselves into the belief that we are getting something for nothing and the tendency to crowd more and more improper functions upon the federal government are serious evils. They must be fought.

MUDGING THE WATERS.

The editor of the Waukegan Sun, who switched shortly before the Small trial and became an ardent propagandist of the governor, now calls attention to what he pretends to believe was an attempt to influence the jury against the defendant.

What is his excuse for waiting until this moment before he makes this disclosure?

The governor's relatives also are supposed to have knowledge of tampering. Why have they remained silent?

If these gentlemen wish to be considered responsible citizens, they have something to explain in their strange indifference. If they cannot explain satisfactorily they cannot complain if their present charges are considered nothing better than an unscrupulous attempt to counteract in the public mind the effect of the disclosures of criminal efforts to buy a verdict of not guilty for Mr. Small.

Any one can see that if a conspiracy to buy the jury for Mr. Small cannot be disproved the next best thing is to muddy the waters with trumped-up countercharges.

But the truth is coming out.

PITY THE WINNER.

It may have occurred to some citizens to pity the man who receives the most votes in Tuesday's election. All three candidates seem to want the office. They are gluttons for punishment. Two have said that we think Chicago will get a good mayor, but we'd hesitate to say how long he'll succeed good after he gets in office. He is entering the Augsberg stables, and pity puts aside the thought of what he'll be after he has been in them a while.

It would take a Hercules with the head of Plato and the temperament of Job, and none of the candidates seem to be one-third of that combination. They're asking for it, and one of them will get it. He'll be willing to change places with either one of the men he licked.

THE OHIO STREET BEACH.

Only one fight in the city council is forecast in connection with the 1923 budget, just completed by the finance committee. That is over the item calling for a $25,000 appropriation for a public bathing beach at Ohio street. Ald. Charles J. Agnew, recently defeated for reelection by Ald. Dorsey Crowe, sponsor of the Ohio street beach plan, promises to lead the battle against the appropriation.

Crowe's friends call it political animus. We do not presume to define it. But whatever the motive of opposition, there is one point offered which is worthy of consideration. Ald. Agnew declares the proposed beach would be so handicapped as to prevent a movement of the water necessary to maintain freshness and keep it from becoming a menace to the health of bathers who used the beach.

That is a serious charge. We are told that it has been refuted by engineers. It should be settled beyond a doubt. When that is done, there should be no hesitancy in voting the money for the improvement. The lake is one of Chicago's greatest assets. The bathing beaches are a feature of the lake which is invaluable to the city and to most of its residents personally in summer. We cannot have too many of them. An investment of $25,000 in a new beach which will provide means of pleasure and recreation for thousands of city residents will return heavy dividends, even though invisible ones.

But the council, perhaps assisted by the health department, should make sure that the engineering plan is so perfected that there can be no danger to health because of stagnation of the beach water.

Editorial of the Day

THE BOLSHEVIKS.

[Free translation from Skandinavien (Norwegian).]

The number of bolsheviks is not large, nor has it gone up at all during the last years. According to statistics published by the bolshevik mission in Berlin after the last international communists' congress there are in all countries not more than 1,225,825 genuine communists. This congress was attended by 384 representatives from sixty-one countries, but only of these countries have no organized communist party.

Most bolsheviks are living in Europe, there having only 35,960 communists registered in other continents—namely, 4,650 in Asia, 1,100 in Africa and Australia, and 21,510 in America. Russia is, of course, the country which is harboring the largest number: 453,290, which constitutes over 35 per cent of the entire figure. There are said to be 20,000,000 authorized men voters in Russia, so that there are no more than 2 bolsheviks for every 100 male voters, and if the women are also figured in, no more than 1 bolshevik to 100 voters.

Next to Russia come central Europe and Scandinavia, with a total of 491,132 divided as follows: The communist party in Germany, 22,300; in Czechoslovakia, 17,900; in Norway, 50,000; in Austria, 16,000; in Sweden, 12,145; in Switzerland, 1,200; in Denmark and Iceland combined, 1,820. In the various Balkan countries there are 12,245 communists; in western Europe, 121,192, of which England contains 41,118.

These statistics would indicate that the Norwegian communist party is the largest in the world, when figured in relation to the population of the country. It can be understood from this that Norway played an important part in the calculations of the Moscow gathering. It is not impossible, however, that the statistics will look different if the Norwegian communist party would introduce the principle of individual membership.

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

GYPSY MEMORIES.

Two palms care the purple night,
Soft-blurred against the sky;
Two wistful palms, each frown a sigh.
For some far night's delight...

The long road lies between us two
But memory burns my brain,
And the old love's healing surge, anew,
Wakens your old refrain:

"I burn my candle at both ends,
It will not last the night,
But O, my joys, and O, my friends,
It gives a lovely light!"

A wild youth with a cruel hand
And you sang your throbbing song,
Then drifted with your gypsy band—
(Ah! the road between is long...)

Two palms care the purple night,
Soft-blurred against the sky;
Two wistful palms, each frown a sigh.
For some far night's delight...

NOW, ONE of the gravest reasons against our voting for Digger Dever for mayor is that the next day Bill Hearst will say, "I DID MORE TO elect Judge Dever than..." etc. Still, Bill will claim to have elected Leader Luender if Art should win out. So, after all, it makes no difference.

THE WE-BOYS Find a Friend.

SPRING TRAINING.

Line: Yesterday the conductor on a Clark street car sang out, "Addison street, Cubet-ball park."

PAINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Not very far out on the west side, about where the dumpy Robey cars bump saucily across arrogant Madison street, there is a sunken garden and a fountain. Or rather, there is a sunken garden and the rocky remains and rusty pipe of a fountain. Mornings, the old fashioned house eastward lays its shadows, stretches its clothesline, and flings its nondescript washing over the garden. In the afternoons, its own guardian on the west prints a stiff, dignified pattern across the grass. Only under moonlight does the garden commence with its rich and pleasant, pure, and gossip with the ghost of the fountains. Then, down the few rock bordered steps, come one by one the long ago owners to walk in their garden, not having the courage, perhaps, to haunt the present "roomer" occupants nor even to sit silently along the path that has grown tired and wrinkled with the passing years.

Across the way, St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church, with its ivy wrinkled, yellowish limestone face, dreams peacefully; its iron stained stone steps affording a loitering place alike for lovers and a play place for children.

It's an oddly indifferent, don't care sort of neighborhood, so one comes around the corner unexpectedly upon the neatest, tiniest frame house. The garden, to match, is meticulously tended and its few feet of ground flowers radiantly, spring and summer. The place curiously reminds me of the little cottage where David Copperfield went to housekeeping with Dora and I half expect, in passing, to hear Jip barking or Bogy Trotwood calling "Little Blossom!"—Piranox.

TO HARLEQUIN.

Thou Harlequin, who say'st romance is dead,
That we shoyt traits of being asinine,
Art but thyself a blundering buffoon
Or speakest with a tongue made mandrin.

Lath for our ears instead of tempered steel!

Wouldst thou so judge three, thou dost not know?

Thou mountebank, we with a single thrust

Will break thy pride and straightway lay thee low.

Arms of the Musketeers.

FLOYD GIBBONS is leading the W. G. N. expedition into the Sahara just to find a wild tribe that wears black veils. A few days ago we didn't care what they were, but now that Floyd has got us all excited we feel that we just can't eat or sleep again until we find out why those wild people wear those black veils. Maybe the veils are what makes them wild. Maybe they couldn't bear to read the tongue twisters in the daily Trib any more. Maybe—but wait. Floyd with forty canaries and a photog is now in full cry.

A HANDBODY OF WORDS.

Dear R. H. L.: With the interest of the Lins and its readers ever at heart, I wish to suggest that you add to your highly-interesting-as-well-as-instructive departments, such as "Etiquette Problems," "Puzzle Picture," "Tongue Twister," and "How to Get Rid of a Husband"—"The Nicest Compliment I've Ever Had." As a starter, my husband greets every one with "I've got the best little wife in the whole world—and say! She makes the line!" Could I say anything better?

DARLING I.

CERTAINLY, I.

Oh! Dick!! Vangie's going to walk down the bald Mish. on Easter day, isn't she? She's getting all dolled up: a corsage Q, and a crepe dress M, and the pretty slip for underneath M. I do hope she has a nice time and that it doesn't rain. Is the Easter rabbit ready to walk with her?

ESTELLE.

MR. HAYNES, our national prohibition commissioner, is now going after the demons who carry liquor on the hip into railroad cars. All such are to be apprehended and dragged from the train to the nearest gaol. Brother Haynes, you are right. But why dillydally? Let a company of marines be sent aboard each and every train and when a fellow in human form is caught with red liquor on his hind leg let him be taken to the platform of the observation car and immediately shot. There is so often nothing worth observing from the observation car, anyhow, that this will be a real treat to the traveling public.

PROBABLY CAPTURED IN THE RUHE.

By the way, Dickey—what is this height of what? Or is it the lowth? Loop shop displays the "Smallest doll in the world. Direct from Paris." I peeked and all over its little tummieskin. It's the label, "Made in Germany."

BIRTHS DIMINISH AS STRAIN SHIFT, STATISTICS SHOW

Death Rate Also Said to Be Declining.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A diminishing birth rate is causing some authorities to wag doleful heads, while a decreasing death rate, on the other hand, is filling other authorities with cheer. Striking a balance between the cradle and the grave, one finds that the natural increase of population—excess of births over deaths—is not failing behind in the United States.

In the four years 1916-19, the birth rate in the states with registration systems gradually dropped. In 1916 for every 1,000 population there were 25 births. In 1919 this had gone to 22.3 births. In 1920 it went up to 25.7 births. This rate was about 5.2 per cent lower than that of 1916.

Death Tide Recedes.

But in 1916, for every 1,000 population there were 14.3 deaths. In 1920 the death rate fell to 13.1 per 1,000 population. Thus the net natural increase in 1916 was 10.2 for every 1,000 population as against 10.6 in 1920. So that despite a lower birth rate, 1920 had a larger excess of births over deaths than 1916.

Observations among some medical authorities in that birth control propaganda is spreading into the more pro-life groups. Among the "white collar" and "old stock" elements, however, to which the propaganda points, there is a strong feeling that directed so far the birth rate, instead of decreasing, appears to be increasing. The groups which were being upbraided for "race suicide" by Roosevelt years ago seem to be increasing their progeny somewhat, as witness the increase in children in old residence sections in the city.

So far as types and stock go, the offhand impression of many is that a small improvement is taking place in the birth situation, although it would be extremely difficult to back this up with actual statistics. But the birth control movement, they say, does not get into the foreign born crowd, which are the white born, and who do not read English extensively, and where control could be most advantageously practiced.

Foreign Parents Predominate.

Among the white population foreign born mothers are far more prolific than the native born. In Pittsburgh, in 1920 the foreign born white formed only 40 per cent of the total, but one-third of the white children born that year had foreign born mothers.

For some years much has been said about the shift in national and racial strains entering into the new born generation. Among the foreign born parents, the Italians rank first in number, next the Russians. Of the 100,000 children born in 1920, 14.6 per cent had fathers who were born in Austria, Italy or Russia. On the other hand, only 4.8 per cent had fathers born in Canada, the Scandinavian countries, England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, and Germany. This was a natural consequence of the sharp decline in immigration during the last twenty years when arrivals from northern Europe fell off and immigrants swept in from southern Europe and Russia.

Among the native born Americans families are smaller than among the foreign born. In 1920, 44 per cent of the native born mothers had one or two children, while 25 per cent of the foreign born mothers were first and second children. But only 15 per cent of those born to foreign born mothers were first and second children.

Oak Park Leads State.

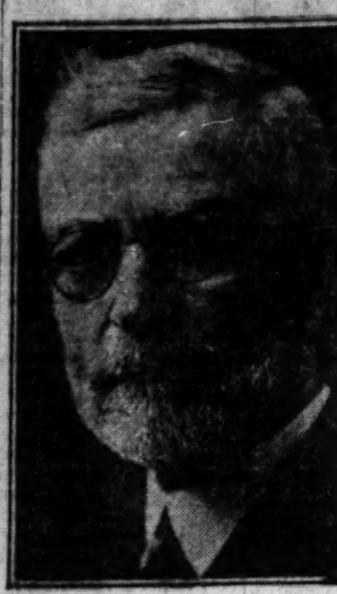

Oak Park had the highest birth rate of any city in Illinois in 1921, according to a compilation recently made by the state department of health. Where in the state there were 19.5 births for every 1,000 population, the Oak Park rate was 23.5. Herring, second of the nine massacres, ran second with a rate of 21.4. The proportion of foreign born population runs high in Herrin, Evanson, a residence suburb where the native born population is unusually high, came third with a rate of 22.9. The rate for the state is listed as 20.8 in rank with a rate of 20.2—the corrected rate will run about 21.8. Cairo, where there is a large foreign population, had a rate of only 12.3, while Cairo, where the Negro population is large, had a rate of 16.

"DOWNTOWN" TO 26TH STREET, COUNCIL PLAN

Extension of the "downtown" district southward to 26th street was voted by the council committee on building and zoning yesterday. The committee is working on the zoning ordinance, which is to be submitted to the city council for passage on Saturday.

Under the ordinance as drawn up by the zoning commission the southern limit of the "downtown" district was set at 22d street. Under the order passed yesterday the 26th foot building limit will run four blocks farther. The change was made to permit commercial development.

DEAD

ALL WORLD AND PARIS SAY ADIEU TO GREAT SARAH

BY HENRY WALTERS.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

PARIS, March 28.—Paris and the world said adieu to Sarah Bernhardt today as the body of the tragedienne lay in state in her home in the Boulevard Pereire. For tomorrow the great Sarah joins the company of the immortals who lie in Peve Le Chateau.

Messages from Japan, Australia, America, England and every country of Europe flooded Mme. Bernhardt's house, while thousands of Parisians stood patiently in line to await their turn to bid her good-by. Among the telegrams was one from Queen Alexandra couched in the warmest terms and another from Queen Victoria.

The body was placed in the famous rosewood coffin this morning while prayers were recited by priests. Sarah made her last descent down the staircase from her bedroom where she lay yesterday on her own bed to the saloon on the ground floor where she lies in funeral splendor.

The Tiger's death.

The Tiger, the last great representative of Mme. Bernhardt's generation, was deeply moved by her death. He is sending flowers, but is not going to her funeral despite his close friendship of years.

The Tiger in his skull cap and felt coat, which recited a reporter for the Tribune in his room study. He walked up and down nervously when he learned that the reporter wished to get an expression of his personal reaction to Sarah's passing.

"Nothing, nothing," he repeated in agitation. "I have never said anything on any subject. I cannot speak a word on that subject particularly."

Change of Mood.

The Tiger suddenly changed his mood, his voice became more gentle and leaning over a table he said:

"Mme. Bernhardt was my very, very dear friend. What can I say? I am more sorry that she is dead."

Repeating exclamation, again he said:

"That is all. That is all. I cannot say anything more."

For the last twenty years M. Clemenceau has been a devoted friend of the Divine Sarah, dining at her house regularly.

SAHARA DESERTNot Easy for Tribune Men, Says Old Campaigner.

Commandant Bettebourg, who has crossed the Sahara desert from the Atlantic ocean to Lake Chad and from the Niger river to Algiers, and who has been in this country for ten years at Ouargla, Salak, Tukka, Timbuctoo, and other places, tells his American friends about the country's known mysteries which Lloyd Gibbons is now about to brave.

By Commandant Bettebourg.
Written for The Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.

PARIS, March 28.—France possesses in northern Africa an immense empire, including the poorest part, the Sahara desert, which separates Algeria, Tunisia, and Morocco from the Sudan and Lake Chad. The Sahara is bigger than the United States and covers an area equal to fifteen times that of France.

No country is more attractive than the Sahara; the sky is unequalled for beauty, the air is so pure that nothing pollutes, the nights are radiant and so clear that the stars seem to touch the earth. The traveler through the desert is continually surrounded by the elements of the earth and sky and also, frequently, mankind.

The Sahara sky is inflamed in summer and the heat often registers from 120° to 140°. The sand shade is almost as scarce as ice. The rays of the sun are almost deadly. A thin veil under the helmet of the traveler protects the head, and attention must be paid not to expose any part of the skin to the rays of the sun. A map of the desert is a continual sunstroke.

The danger from the sky sometimes is of a different nature. The wind catches particles of dust and sweeps them along in a thick cloud, which hides from the guides trees, sand hills, and dunes which serve as landmarks.

HOPES FOR PEACE

Indianapolis, Ind., March 28.—The Prince of Wales reciprocated the good wishes for peace and concord throughout the world expressed by Alvin Owley, American Legion national commander, according to a telegram received today at national headquarters of the legion from Ambassador George H. Harrison.

"The Prince of Wales," the message said, "desires me to thank you sincerely for your kind telegram on the occasion of his attending the American Legion ball in London and to assure you that he heartily reciprocates your good wishes for peace and concord throughout the world."

The most dangerous section is the Tancrout which the natives have designated the land of terror. There is nothing to aid the traveler in this great stretch. Mr. Gibbons will have to travel 275 miles across this treacherous land.

List of Wives.

Wife No. 1 was divorced from Henry more than three years ago. A few days after the divorce was granted Ray took Miss Olga Hansen, 1126 North Lawndale avenue, to Indiana, and there they were married. Mrs. Olga Hansen is wife No. 2.

Some time ago Henry left wife No. 2 and married Miss Grace Matteson.

They lived together at the Huntington hotel, Sheridan road and Wilson avenue.

"I love him to death," Grace said last night. "If I can't have Grace I'll stay in jail the rest of my life," he proclaimed.

Charged with Bigamy.

He may have to spend some time in jail, too, because wife No. 2 went before a judge and obtained a warrant charging Henry with bigamy. The warrant of safety of Gary, stated that the Gary police force of ninety-two men were too small.

William H. Dunn, judge of the Gary police court, and William Olds, sheriff of Lake county, testified in their own defense today.

GARY OFFICIALS
DEFEND SELVES
AT BOOZE TRIAL

Indianapolis, Ind., March 28.—Mayor Howell O. Johnson of Gary took the stand in his own defense today in the Lake county liquor conspiracy case in federal court here and denied charges that he had conspired to obstruct enforcement of the prohibition laws.

Mayor Johnson testified he had done everything possible to curb the operations of liquor law violators in Gary. William A. Forbis, chief of police of Gary, also defended the mayor and corroborated the testimony of the mayor and submitted police records showing that 410 arrests were made on liquor charges during 1922.

James E. Constance, president of the board of safety of Gary, stated that the Gary police force of ninety-two men were too small.

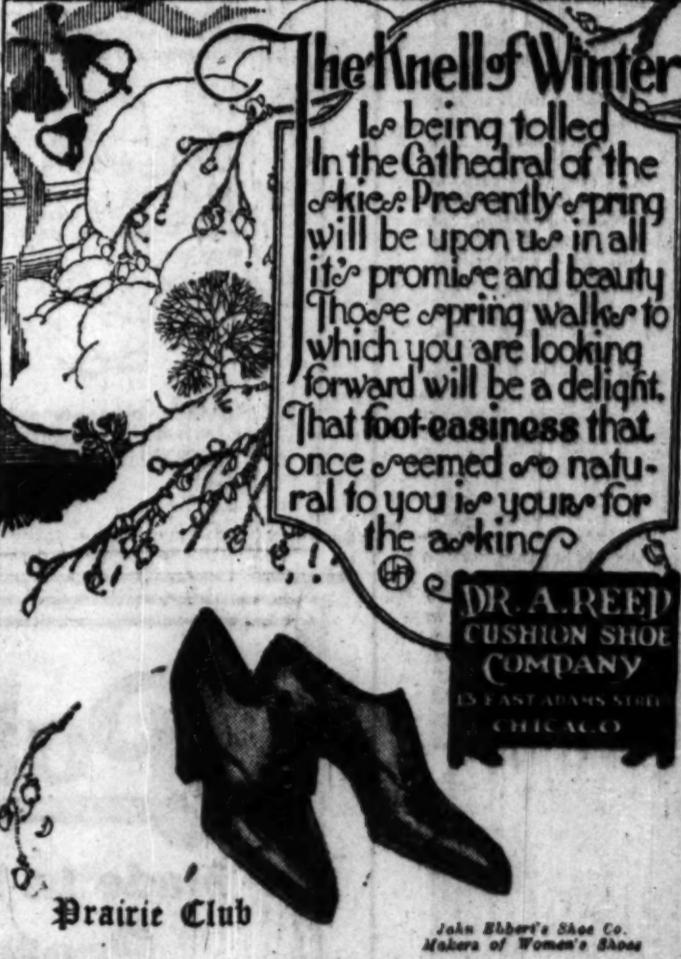

William H. Dunn, judge of the Gary police court, and William Olds, sheriff of Lake county, testified in their own defense today.

BANKER MALTZ INDICTED; "CON GAME" CHARGED

Misrepresented Bonds,
State Alleges.

True bills charging confidence game by two separate counts were voted by the grand jury yesterday against Samuel W. Maltz, former president of the Sixteenth Street State bank, which was closed by the state bank examiner several days ago after a shortage of more than $175,000 had been discovered.

The offense charged was the alleged sale of first mortgage bonds on real property, which are said to have had prior incumbrances. Assistant State's Attorney Thomas A. Peden presented the evidence.

Jury Hears Five Witnesses.

Five witnesses were heard, among them being David Davis, 1238 South Lawndale avenue, and Mary Goldbaum, 1307 South Tripp avenue, both of whom told, it is said, of the sale of several farms to them by Maltz.

The two lived in the neighborhood of the bank, bought bonds on two north side postoffice buildings, which were later found to be second mortgage instead of first as represented.

Logan Square Bank Reopened.

At the same time, another angle of the investigation of two local banks by state officials was being enacted on the north side when the Logan Square State and Savings bank opened its doors, closed since the suicide of Fred W. Popp, president.

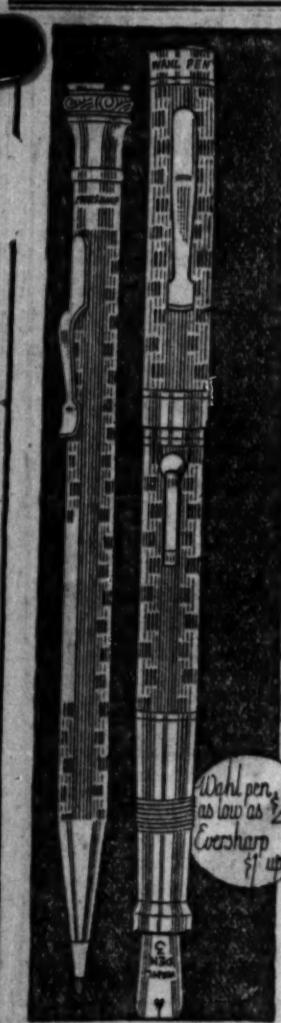

Following the death of Mr. Popp, an investigation was started by the criminal prosecution taken. Several days ago the depositors of the institution held a meeting and it was decided that the bank should be reorganized. Mr. Savage was elected president.

Hundreds of depositors opened accounts yesterday, bank officials said.

Want Depositors' Guarantees.

Enactment of law to create a bank depositors' guarantee fund was urged in the committee room to members of the Illinois legislature yesterday by the Chicago Federation of Labor.

The communication averred that "in July, 1921, a prominent bank on Michigan avenue failed through the dishonesty of some of its officials, causing many depositors to lose their money and their families." It also referred to "the numerous bank failures since 1921" and concludes by asking the operation of the Cook County Real Estate board and the Public Ownership League to have a bank depositors' fund law enacted.

ASKS NEW CODE TO PUT END TO MUSHROOM BANK

Legislative Quiz May Bring New Board.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Springfield, Ill., March 28.—[Special.]—Declaring Illinois' banking laws need tightening for the protection of depositors against mushroom institutions, Senator Harold C. Kessinger (Rep., Kane) introduced a resolution in the senate today calling for the appointment of special committee of both houses to consider the advisability of a new banking code.

Senator Kessinger proposed that the committee consider the proposition to create a separate banking department in the state government. Upon completion of the proposed code Senator Kessinger suggested that it be submitted to the voters next year.

Wants Board of Five.

His resolution made the following recommendations:

"That the state bank board be composed of the state auditor, state treasurer, attorney general and two members appointed by the governor. That the board be empowered to refuse charters if not satisfied with the reputation or standing of the incorporators of a proposed new bank.

"That the board shall have authority to deny applications for charters for new banks in communities where there is insufficient banking business to support another institution.

WOMAN MEMBER LOSES FIRST TILT FOR 8 HOUR BILL

Legislature Boosts State Police Measure.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Representative Lottie Holman O'Neill [Rep., DuPage, Illinois'] first woman legislator and champion of the workers' eight hour bill, lost her parliamentary skirmish today when she failed in an attempt to advance the measure to third reading in the house.

A motion by Representative Lee O'Neill [Dem., La Salle], to postpone consideration of the bill until April, carried in a vote of 68 to 67. Representative O'Neill and the house and other members of the house had not had an opportunity to consider the bill and that amendments probably will be offered. Then Mr. O'Neill took the floor to lead her first fight.

Asks No Favors.
"I am asking no special favors because I am a woman," she said. "This bill has been threshed out and everybody ought to be ready to consider now. I insist that it be taken up at the time."

The house passed the $19,000,000 reappropriation for construction of the waterways.

Waterway. While this bill, the "St. Lawrence Seaway" commission to represent Illinois in the great lakes-to-Atlantic project. The bill carries an appropriation of $20,000 for the commission.

The house also passed the "speed validating" bill introduced by Representative Weis [Rep., Lake]. The measure increases the speed limit of automobiles on rural roads from thirty to thirty-five miles an hour.

The Illinois state police bill was given a boost forward in the senate. Under the bill, if a bill is introduced, the bill safely State Police weathered the first assault. Amendments and now awaits a roll call of the upper branch.

A string of amendments offered by Senator Shaw [Dem., Salina] were discarded. Among the bill's faults to develop a definite insight into the pending roll call in the senate. Senators regarded as opponents of the bill aided Senator Dunlap [Rep., Champaign], author of the constabulary measure, in defeating some of the amendments. On the other hand, junior warm supporters of the bill found some merit in the amendment which placed enforcement of the fish and game laws in the hands of the state police.

The scrap centered on the amendment to prevent the state troopers from entering any city, village or town in pursuit of their duties.

"It is a state police force is a good thing for the man in the country; it is not good for the man in the little village or even the man in the city," Senator Glenn [Rep., Jackson] declared.

Senator Cuthbertson [Rep., Macoupin] introduced a bill, asked for postponement of the Anti-Saloon League's bill. Dry League's creating measure whereby Proposed Bill mayors, sheriffs, and Postponed other officials may be removed from office for failure to enforce the prohibition law. Maintenance charges could be brought in petition of ten citizens to the Circuit court.

"I understand some amendments are to be offered," Senator Cuthbertson said.

"Yes," replied Senator Dailey [Rep., Peoria], "why not have the bill apply to members of the legislature also?"

Horse Tramples Woman at World's Busiest Corner

Run down and trampled on by a horse as she attempted to cross the road, at State and Madison streets yesterday, Miss Marion McDonald, 70 years old, 4404 Grand boulevard, was probably fatally injured. Morris Siegel, 27 years old, of 8000 Michigan avenue, driver of the wagon, said he shouted a warning to the woman, but could not hold his horse pending investigation.

London, March 21.—The Earl of Carnarvon had a sudden and most severe relapse this afternoon. Your physicians are now fighting to save his life and do not conceal their anxiety. The Earl, 50, was taken ill 10 days ago, suffering intensely from blood poisoning, presumably from the bite of an insect during his supervision of the work at the tomb of Pharaoh Tut-Ankh-Amen.

I Made Beauties

Of many plain women in this way

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Countless women owe their beauty and their youth to the helps which brought me mine. I have supplied these helps to many, as a joy. I have seen plain women become beauties, and older women drop all signs of age.

I am convinced that millions can do likewise. Look at me, at a grandmother's age, still a stage beauty, still a girl of 19 in appearance.

I owe my beauty, my perennial youth, to certain helps I found in France. And now, by request of thousands, I have arranged so all who wish may get them.

First, a super-clay

Many years ago French experts taught me the use of clay. They said that famous beauties of all ages had employed clay. And even the crude clay they had then made me a famous beauty.

But those clays were crude and muddy, as most clays are still. Since then certain clays have spent 20 years in perfecting clay. Those old-time clays could not compare with the clay I use today.

They have found the right clay, a rare mineral-laden clay, which leaves minimum residue. They have learned how to refine it, to remove the useless mud. My new-type clay is white and clean and dainty.

They have found added factors which bring new and multiplied effects. Now this clay, they tell me, is White Youth Clay. It brings out new conceptions of what clay can do.

EXPERIMENTS TO PRODUCE BETTER GARDEN TRUCK

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Springfield, Ill., March 28.—[Special.]—Chicago will have cheaper vegetables of a higher quality, produced in the state of Illinois, if the bill introduced in other northern Illinois counties, if the bill pending before the state legislature, asking for an appropriation of $25,000 for experimental work, becomes a law.

Following a hearing on the bill this afternoon the appropriation committee of the senate rejected the bill but favorably. It was introduced in the Senate by Senator Roos [Rep., Forest Park] and in the house by Representative Springer [Rep., Wilmette].

The act provides for the establishment of a truck gardening experiment station in Cook county to be conducted under the supervision of the University of Illinois.

The plan to establish the Cook county experiment station was indorsed here today by W. S. Brock, secretary of the state agricultural society, who resides in all of the northern Illinois counties, and it is backed by the farm bureau.

George Miller, county commissioner of Cook county, has promised to furnish the necessary land.

Among other Cook county truck farmers who appeared here today to support the bill were Herman Schwake, president of the farm bureau, H. W. Day, Frank Diekman and Louis Waternan.

A resolution was introduced today asking for the appointment of a committee of five to investigate.

Inquiry Intigate the methods employed by the National stockyards, East St. Louis, in giving the Malein test for glanders in horses.

The veterinarians are accused of making improper tests and issuing certificates permitting horses and mules to be shipped out of the yards before the proper time has elapsed for completing the test, resulting in a heavy loss to agricultural interests.

STATE DEMANDS DEATH PENALTY FOR COP SLAYER

Demanding the death penalty for Bernard Grant, on trial charged with the murder of Probationary Policeman Ralph Souders, Assistant State's Attorney Edgar A. Jonas will close for the state. The case will go to the jury about 3 o'clock this afternoon, it was predicted last night.

Policeman Souders was slain in a south side ten store five days before Christmas. The case is being heard before Judge Hebel in the Criminal court.

The state of Illinois demands that the two men treat this hoodlum Bernard Grant, the same way he treated his heroic policeman, Ralph Souders," Mr. Scott said. "It asks that you give to him the same chance that he and Krauser gave to Souders when he interrupted their errand of robbery. And what was that chance? None."

Mr. Scott reviewed events preceding the shooting and told finally how Souders, covered by Grant's gun, had laughed and leaped for the weapon, and was shot to death.

Defense Argument Today.

You men are here to show the world that he was a good boy, a very good boy, for the underworld," he continued. "You are to turn this man back on society or send him to the gallows. The community will be better off if you do the latter and the life of a policeman will be made more secure."

The defense attorney will make his argument to the jury this afternoon.

In its report the committee will ask that a new resolution be adopted and a new committee appointed.

Objections raised by Representative Pierce [Rep., Boone], based on the Zion City case, have been sustained by Attorney General Brundage's office and the committee is toning it down.

The Volva investigation was stopped by a court order because the resolution passed by the legislature was too ambiguous and called for no remedial legislation. The Herrin resolution contains the same ambiguities, Representative Pierce declared.

NEW COMMITTEE ASKED AS LAW TIES HERRIN QUIZ

Springfield, Ill., March 28.—[Special.]—Special court decision in the Greenup case which blocked a legislative inquiry into Wilbur Glenn Volva's monarchial rule in Zion City four years ago threatens the Herrin inquiry demanded by the Illinois house of representatives, it was learned late tonight.

The special house committee appointed by Speaker Shadburne last week to fix responsibility for the failure to send troops to Williamson county last June will ask to be dismissed tomorrow.

In its report the committee will ask that a new resolution be adopted and a new committee appointed.

A DELICIOUS, NOURISHING WHOLE-WHEAT BREAD

Here is the recipe for that famous "Shredded Wheat Bread" by Alice Bradley, principal of Miss Farmer's School of Cookery, published in Woman's Home Companion.

Break six shredded—heat biscuits into bread bowl, add two cups of boiling water. When cool, add two cups scalded milk, one-half cup molasses, two tablespoons shortening, one tablespoon salt, yeast dissolved in one-quarter cup lukewarm water, and flour to knead (about six cups). Finish like white bread. Half white and half whole wheat flour may be used.

Overnight to New York on the water level route

The Twentieth Century Limited is now operated in from two to five sections every day out of Chicago and out of New York with the same dependability of service as when a single train each way met the demands for reservations.

The ease and comfort with which the twenty-hour schedule is maintained over the water level route of the New York Central is due not alone to the fact that the men who operate the Century have won their places by years of meritorious service—the picked men of a great organization—but also to the fact that year after year millions of dollars of new capital have been expended by the New York Central management in making this a better railroad.

Since the inauguration of the Century service, the property investment of the New York Central Lines has grown from less than $900,000,000 to nearly $1,800,000,000, and a considerable part of this expenditure has been made on the main traffic artery—the water level route from New York to Chicago.

The route of the Twentieth Century Limited has virtually been rebuilt in these two decades.

SEEK TO DELAY SCHOOL TRIAL TILL NEXT

Judge McKinley's Cited as Prejudiced

Reports that Fred London, of another city half a dozen of bonding $1,000,000, school board funds would be used for his defense in his trial until he was known that Attorney Charles Darrow, of defense counsel, had a sharp attack upon Charles Michael McKinley, which was received in the hearing this morning. An account of the hearings for and against the plaintiff and his followers for the trial, outlining the statements made by the defense, was offered by the school board itself, while the judge's statement.

Frederick Darrow $1,000,000 in bonds indicate that $164,000,000 was spent for the purpose. Mr. Darrow has spent this amount, 70 per cent, approximately, was spent for salaries, 8 per cent for the engineers, watchmen and porters, 10 per cent for the pension on bonds, 2 per cent.

"And from the remaining amount, all the administrative expenses were paid, coal was purchased and supplies bought, pension the balance after these expenses not more than approximately $100,000 charged against his friends."

SEEK TO DELAY SCHOOL TRIALS TILL NEXT FALL

Judge McKinley's Charges
Cited as Prejudicial.

Reports that Fred Lundin, Virtus and other city hall henchmen accused of bootlegging $1,000,000 of school board funds would seek continuance of their trial until fall, gained strength yesterday when it became known that Attorney General Darrow of Illinois' coalition had prepared a strong attack upon Chief Justice Michael McKinley which will be presented to Judge Charles A. McDonald in the hearing this morning.

Abatement of the hearing of arguments for and against the plot of Lundin and his followers for bills of particulars, being demanded, can against them, precluded Mr. Darrow from offering school board records to prove the chief justice's charge that "from $75,000,000 to $90,000,000 of board funds had been wasted in graft, extravagance and incompetence."

Darrow Criticizes Judge.

"This latest outbreak of Judge McKinley, coming as it does while this case is pending, makes it difficult to support the notion that an unprejudiced jury cannot be selected at this time," said Mr. Darrow. "And the records of the school board itself, which I will offer in evidence, will show the truth of the judge's statement."

From 1915 until 1921 inclusive, the board's records show that approximately $124,000,000 was spent for all purposes, Mr. Darrow asserted. Of this amount, 76 per cent, also approximately, was spent for teacher's salaries, 8 per cent for the salaries of engineers, watchmen and janitors, 1 per cent for power and light and 1 per cent on books, 2 per cent on coal.

"And from the remaining 13 per cent, all the administrative salaries were paid, coal was purchased, books and supplies bought, pensions paid and the balance after these expenses would approximate the amount of graft charged against Lundin and his friends."

Attorneys Clash Frequently.

Recent clashes between Assistant Attorney General Edwin Raber and Attorney Charles E. Epstein, counsel for Rohm, marked the debate over the right of the indicted men to a specification of the evidence which the state will introduce against them. Twice during the hearing, Epstein challenged the assistant attorney general to settle the case out in the hall.

If Lundin and his companions are innocent of complicity in a conspiracy to graft $1,000,000 from the school board, their demand for a bill of particulars is innocuous, declared Assistant Attorney General Hobart P. Young.

BOARD BOOSTS WAGES

The board of education yesterday voted pay increases for 267 elementary school principals, 267 one-head clerks, and the acting secretary. The increase will total nearly $70,000 a year.

Only the president, John Dill Robertson, and Hart Hansen, chairman of the finance committee, stood against the raises for the principals and clerks.

They have collected a lot of bulletins from the '27 D. C. Robertson told the other trustees.

The raise for the principals will be allotted according to length of service. The minimum salary was left at $2,000 a year and the maximum was raised from $4,800 to $5,200. The head clerk's pay was jumped from $2,100 to $2,700 a year maximum. The salary of Charles Gide, the one-head clerk, who has served the board thirty-four years, was unanimously voted up to $5,000. He had been drawing $4,500.

PRICE INCREASE IN SUGAR IS NOT FAULT OF TARIFF

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT
Washington, D. C., March 20.—[Special.]—President Harding will be advised by the federal tariff commission that recent advances in sugar prices have had no connection with the increased duty of the Fordney-McCumber law.

While no official announcement to this effect has been made it is regarded as a certainty that this will be the finding of the commission and that no increase in sugar will be transmitted to the President at an early date.

Asks Deeper Inquiry.

That an investigation into tariff only would prove to be merely "a red herring drawn across the trail of the speculators," was asserted by Basil M. Manly, director of the people's legislative service, in a telegram to President Harding today. Mr. Manly said in this telegram:

"Your prompt action in ordering investigation of sugar tariff by tariff commission and promise to reduce tariff if found excessive to the community provided department of justice takes prompt action to stop speculators and punish conspiracy of profiteers. If action by administration is, however, to be limited to tariff this investigation will prove to be a red herring drawn across the trail of speculators."

Says Trail Warm Now.

"Full effect of tariff on sugar prices manifested prior to Feb. 8, when sugar was selling retail at 7 cents. Increase of 1 cent since due entirely to manipulation. Delay in action to reduce excessive prices is costing American people a billion dollars a day. Speculator trail is now set free and a blind bird dog can follow it. Urge you direct department of justice to bring matter at once before federal grand jury."

You want your things clean; and you want them kept that way as economically as possible. That's exactly the service that Old Dutch Cleanser gives you.

Old Dutch contains no hard grit. It does not scratch. Its fine, flaky particles lie flat; cover more surface and do more work than gritty material. That's why Old Dutch goes farther than anything else you can buy; it's one of the reasons, too, why it's so economical.

You can leave all cleaning to Old Dutch; sink, floor, utensils, glass, everything. It will be done right; with the least time, work and expense.

This year Easter comes on April 1st—the humorists' national holiday.
Wouldn't you know that LIFE would get out a special number in honor of the happy coincidence!

Marrow this fact to your favorite newsdealer and let him egg you on, in his hard-boiled way, to shell out fifteen cents for this Easter Number of LIFE.

How's this for an Easter Egg?

In this spring a young man's fancy—and this year our young men and women are fancier than ever before. They have hatched a great crop of spring giddies, and the first shipment is in this number. An extraordinary cover by Maxfield Parrish, drawings in color by Gibson, Herford and Irvin, reviews, sketches and verse by F. P. A. Williams, Benchley, Crosby, Don Herold and Dr. Walter Traprock—and other features too numerous to mention.

Yellow Cab

Operates in Spite of Wind and Weather

When blizzards rage and drifts obstruct the streets—when the mercury drops to zero and the wind howls like mad, you find the YELLOW CAB working just the same. It isn't operated to suit the weather. It is operated to suit the people—all the time.

The YELLOW CAB
COMPANY is a corporation of organized responsibility—and takes itself seriously.

Early in the morning and late at night, when business is slack and the fares few and far between, you find the YELLOW CAB still there while other cabs, looking only for the cream, are mysteriously absent.

You often notice that the streets are filled with cabs of all kinds on pleasant days. On unpleasant days they are as scarce as hen's teeth. That's because the cabs, which are responsible to no one, don't like bad weather any more than you do. So they stay at home.

Nothing but snow drifts and actual calamities can stop the progress of the YELLOW CAB. These calamities are dispensations of Providence and can't be avoided, but they can't stop the YELLOW CAB very long.
They are invariably the first vehicles to break through. They are path-finders in every sense of the word.

That's our idea of a cab service. It must go to the extreme limit to serve. It must recognize public necessity. It must be on the spot when need is greatest and not reserved for sunny days. It must be there to fight wind and weather for you when you don't feel equal to fighting them yourselves.

Our schedule is a schedule. It is not elastic or subject to individual whims or inclinations. It is a cab-service. It is THE cab-service of America—solid, substantial, eager, willing, thorough and courageous. You can't find its equal in any corner of the universe.

The thinking fellow calls a Yellow

DAILY HOROSCOPE

Doris Blake Says:
TODAY IS LUCKY FOR THE CONSTRUCTIVE.

Today the sun is parallel with Mercury, Mars is in conjunction with Jupiter, rendering an atmosphere peculiarly adapted to constructive work. Engineering, contracting, building, and land development should prosper under these stars.

Those whose birthday is this have the forecast of possible trouble in the domestic circle unless every care is taken to avoid discord.

Children born on this day may require more discipline in youth to offset tendencies to carelessness and irresponsibility.

Fondness for good living is a characteristic of those whose birthday this is. You are rather high strung and nervous at times, which earns you the nickname of "nervous." You are a strong thinker and reasoner, your good moments somewhat opinionated and not given to taking advice kindly. You hate detail, and often miss success by your desire to grasp in large detail without the knowledge of the details. There are some features in your makeup which at least make you an interesting study. You can be the most attractive and agreeable person in the world when you want to be, but you need to practice concentration of mind and purpose in order to accomplish a really successful life.

She Must Like You.

"Dear Miss Blake: A few months ago I was introduced to a girl. I liked her then, but by now it has ripened into more than that. When we are out she seems to care for me, but when I meet her in the street she acts cold. Would you please advise me how I can win her regard? C. S. I."

I wouldn't pay any attention to her. She is probably a girl who is too much of an embarrassment of manner from which she suffers herself. If she is nice to you on all other occasions, she must like you.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence)—Hats are trying hard to break away from the spell of the cloche, but without much help, so far, save from milliners and mannequins. Only on the latter, generally speaking, does one see other shapes in the daytime than the tight, round hat that has been popular so long.

This spring the cloche took on new lines of life, both here and abroad, changing only the height of its crown and neck, and perhaps the trimmings, too, as the first of the two hats shown. French women have always been partial to bows as a trimming for black hats, and vice versa. This French model displays a black facings on a brown bow, and a trim of fine straw under the brim, with a rose of darker brown satin appliqued where it will do the most for the face of the wearer.

Maline is exceptionally prized this season, being used for panels and trains of dinner dresses and coats, as well as hat and hair finish.

Sunday fashion page will be found in the New Color Section.

TAXES BIG ISSUE FOR POLITICIANS NEXT 18 MONTHS

BY SCRUTATOR.

Americans are destined to hear more about taxes in the next eighteen months than they have probably heard in all their lives. There are two reasons: first, when taxes have reached the point where they need everybody's feelings, then it is natural in the effort of the news to create enthusiastic buyers and sellers. When the prices are up most of the traders are bullish. But when a break comes, they get bearish. They were in the latter mood at the close, or the reverse of Tuesday.

Second, the political pivot upon which national and local policies are bound to swing.

Two grand maneuvers by the opposing forces strive for the political advantage in progress. The news of 1923 and 1924 will be read with better understanding by keeping this strategy in mind. Those representing the prevailing political tendency—the state financed “uplift”—will strive by every means within their power to prevent taxation from becoming the “paramount” issue. Since 1907 the “uplift” has been invincible in politics except for spasmodic kickbacks now and then.

The American people have been thoroughly sold on the theory of improvement through taxation. This means that the movement—though it means more taxes, but diggers have been increasing in recent years and they now challenge the whole theory and, what is more important, the official tenure of high prices. Many, disappointed by the skyrockets, are being crushed by the phenomenal analysis of audit and arithmetic.

Counting the cost is becoming a leading indoor sport. As a result, the relative roles of radical and conservative are being reversed. The radical yesterday, one representing entrenched privilege, has become the bureaucrat of today, repelling attack, or explaining failures. The standpatter of 1912, patently defensive, is now the raging advocate of personal liberty and the rights of the common man.

It is the task of the political staff to recall how taxation has recently determined British elections, local and national, but while Sam was in London dishing out the British results we experienced some advance symptoms over here. Against the current of the radical backlash last November, California and other states have selected progressive candidates who promised to reduce taxes. Recent developments in the near west show that the taxation issue is forcing to the front in the grain belt, threatening to displace the grievances of the levers.

Fed up for a time on the misdeeds of the money trust, the farmer has begun to think about taxes right at home. He finds that his land taxes have been more than doubled, while the census figures show that the prices of plow lands have dropped sharply since 1920. He finds that his local taxes have increased the burden of federal financing. This is true in sixteen states of the union—mostly farming or mining commonwealths. Because of exemptions and his methods of accounting, or lack of them, the farmer is relatively immune to the tax. The local taxes have taxed him on general property levies, dead like a load of brick on the farmer and mine owner, while personal exemptions get out from under. The local taxes were self-inflicted, but, human nature being what it is, the taxpayer usually blames the politician who favored the levies.

In most cases, the politicians who raised taxes at home are the same who urge increased federal rates to “tax the rich.” This slogan becomes shopworn as the taxpayer analyzes his own burdens and begins to question the fitness of Wall street control of America. The big boys returned from congress to find that they are not blamed for doing too little for their constituents. But they wonder if they did not do too much. They went to Washington discussing the best possible arrangement. They come back to recite the great things they have done, and thus spike their own artillery. The list of new agrarian laws is impressive. The farm papers reek with enthusiasm. Enthusiasts for cooperative marketing urge the farmers to submit names of the members of millions of new credit resources now at their disposal as the result of his political dominance. Everything is pretty except the local tax bills.

It is also becoming known, even in the water cooler, that Wall street did not put a pleasant smile in the last session of congress, barring the tariff, which was as popular as the flu with importers, merchants, and most bankers.

A bullish view of the corn situation is taken by a local operator. He believes that country elevator stocks are light and there will be no movement from the farms until after spring planting time. The season is late and prices should be stable.

This means that the movement—though it means more taxes, but diggers have been increasing in recent years and they now challenge the whole theory and, what is more important, the official tenure of high prices. Many, disappointed by the skyrockets, are being crushed by the phenomenal analysis of audit and arithmetic.

Counting the cost is becoming a leading indoor sport. As a result, the relative roles of radical and conservative are being reversed. The radical yesterday, one representing entrenched privilege, has become the bureaucrat of today, repelling attack, or explaining failures. The standpatter of 1912, patently defensive, is now the raging advocate of personal liberty and the rights of the common man.

It is the task of the political staff to recall how taxation has recently determined British elections, local and national, but while Sam was in London dishing out the British results we experienced some advance symptoms over here. Against the current of the radical backlash last November, California and other states have selected progressive candidates who promised to reduce taxes. Recent developments in the near west show that the taxation issue is forcing to the front in the grain belt, threatening to displace the grievances of the levers.

The American people have been thoroughly sold on the theory of improvement through taxation.
